Richard J. Lane

In early September 1939, the second Battalion Royal Norfolk Regiment have been one of many first whole infantry devices of the BEF to land in France. The first months of worldwide struggle have been really quiet yet after deploying to the Maginot Line zone in the course of January 1940 they got here into touch with these Germans manning the West Wall or Siegfried Line. A patrol led through Captain Peter Barclay entered German territory and was once attacked. As a result, the 1st of the warfare have been awarded. Barclay acquired the army go and Lance-Corporal Davis the army Medal whereas the rest contributors of the patrol have been pointed out in despatches. Two days later, the battalion suffered a sad first while Lieutenant Patrick Everitt was once mortally wounded whereas major a sunlight patrol. Everitt used to be the 1st British officer to be killed in motion within the moment international War. When the Germans introduced their offensive on 10 May, the BEF complicated to the River Dyle in Belgium. inside of days the Allied Armies were pressured onto the again foot by means of the rate and ferocity of the German breakthrough. The Norfolks withdrew to the River Escaut the place the BEF used to be to make a stand. On 21 May, the corporate Sergeant significant George Gristock courageously destroyed a few German machine-gun posts and received a posthumous Victoria Cross. As the Allies withdrew in the direction of the Channel, the Norfolks have been ordered to protect a piece of the Canal Line among Be'thune and Le Cornet Malo. Already all the way down to round part strength, the Norfolks held their quarter from 24 to 27 May. by the point the order used to be issued for them to withdraw, it used to be too late, Battalion HQ at Duries Farm, Le Paradis used to be surrounded and so they had no replacement yet to surrender, even though 'C' corporation held out until eventually the next morning. After the surrender, ninety-nine males of the Battalion have been marched to a paddock the place they have been machine-gunned in chilly blood by way of their SS captors. Miraculously, males survived and have been instrumental in bringing the SS officer responsible, Fritz Knoechlien, to justice after the war. When the remnants of the battalion reassembled in England, its energy used to be simply 5 officials and 134 different ranks. the rest had both been killed or captured as POWs.

this can be a impressive account of the bloodbath of the second Battalion The Royal Norfolk Regiment at Le Paradis in 1940. This e-book tells the tale of the way the 2d Battalion The Royal Norfolk Regiment got here to be massacred at Le Paradis by means of the SS Totenkopf
